Huntington National Bank has sold its high-profile wealth management office near U.S. Route 23 and Interstate 270 in Worthington to Telhio Credit Union Inc. for $2.5 million.

Columbus-based Huntington (NASDAQ:HBAN) moved employees from the 6851 N. High St. office to a branch a mile south at 800 N. High St., spokeswoman Maureen Brown said.

Telhio, a 47,000-member credit union based in Columbus, will move from its existing branch at the Shops at Worthington Place and renovate the 5,949-square-foot Huntington facility, spokeswoman Karen Daniels said.

"We have outgrown our existing space and look forward to a larger branch to better serve our members," Daniels told me in an email.

Telhio anticipates a late 2015 or early 2016 move.

The Franklin County Auditor's website values the land and improvements at $990,000.
